THREE THIEVES ROB A WIDOW.

First Stole a Horse and Buggy to Haul Off Their Booty.

NO ARRESTS MADE.

Drove Into the City and Turned Horse Loose.

Friday night the meat house of Mrs. Bird Mattingly, four miles from the city, on the Russellville pike, was broken open and about 175 pounds of hams stolen.

The thieves first went to Bob Fuller's stable, took out a horse and hitched it to his buggy and drove a short distance to Mrs. Mattingly's and took ten large, fresh hams and hauled them to town. The robbery was committed after the rain for the tracks of the thieves were plainly seen the next morning. There were three men in the crowd as the size of their footprints clearly indicated. After getting into the buggy they drove a short distance up the pike when they turned and came into town. The horse, still attached to the buggy, was found by the police, standing unchained in front of Fuller's grocery, corner of Fifth and Virginia streets, early Saturday morning. What disposition was made of the hams has not yet been ascertained.

Mrs. Mattingly is the widowed daughter of the late Mr. Larkin Harned, and can ill afford to lose so large a part of her year's supply of meat.

The police were promptly notified of the affair and at once began to ferret out the thieves, but it is probable that they took such precautions to conceal the crime as to keep the officers off their tracks for some time.

STOP SHOOTING.

Saturday is the Last Day For Killing Quail.

Without you have no regard for the Sabbath, tomorrow and Saturday are the last days under the law for killing quail. The crop this year in this section has been unusually large. There has been some talk of getting the legislature to so amend the law that no quail shall be killed for three years. It is thought by some that in three years the birds would multiply to such an extent that there would be plenty for everybody, while others think that they would freeze out during a very severe winter and the third year would not be any better than at the end of the first.

ASYLUM PATIENTS.

Two of Them Die at the Institution.

John L. Howard, a patient at the asylum, died Monday of consumption. He was sent here from Calhoun county for treatment and the body was shipped to Murray.

Thomas Cottrell, a patient from Ohio county, died Friday of exhaustion. The remains were sent to Belton for interment.

CHRISTMAS TREE.

Baptist Sunday School Has Holiday Entertainment.

There was a large attendance of children and grown-up people at the Baptist church Christmas night, the occasion being a Christmas tree in the Sunday school room. An interesting program was carried out before the presents were distributed. Keene Waller impersonated Santa Claus.

BIG TRADE ALL ROUND.

Men of Sound Business Judgment Pull in the Shekels.

DO THOU LIKEWISE.

Everybody Follows the Crowd to the Right Place.

The true Christmas spirit is in giving instead of wanting some one else to do the giving. This spirit certainly has been in evidence here. Notwithstanding the most unfavorable weather conditions prevailing a great part of last week our shopkeepers who made judicious use of printer's ink so depleted their stocks that when Christmas day dawned the shelves and counters looked as if there had been a cyclonic visitation. Shelves were empty, goods piled in disorder on the counters, and clerks Saturday night had lost energy and were touched with "that tired feeling" born of several days of unusual physical and mental activity trying to wait on everybody at once.

"Up on the hill" Mr. T. M. Jones probably did the largest business in the history of the oldest strictly dry goods house in the city.

M. D. Kelly, the veteran jeweler, who never misrepresents anything, but stakes his reputation on selling nothing but "the true stuff," has had a patronage that he feels proud of.

W. T. Cooper & Co., with their extra force of clerks, were pushed early and late trying to wait on the people that thronged the store for the past week or more.

It goes without saying that "the Frankel boys" are always at the top notch in their lines of business, and the two large store rooms have been so crowded that the many regular and extra clerks have been kept continually on the run.

J. T. Wall & Co., with their characteristic foresight, selected a stock specially adapted for the Christmas trade. Their business, increasing steadily year after year, has been entirely satisfactory and were glad to "take a day off" Sunday.

Those wide-awake druggists, Cook & Higgins, who always have a good trade, were prepared for the heavy demand that was made on them in the way of Christmas goods. They had the largest sale, perhaps, they ever enjoyed. Their stock was Bassett & Co. likewise longed for a day to rest up. This is one of the places where everybody goes for Christmas presents and their stock of old specialties attracted large crowds of buyers.

"Down in the bottom" trade was brisk, especially at J. H. Anderson & Co.'s. The three store rooms were filled with goods when the holiday trade opened up, but not so now. They have been carried off in such quantities that another trip to New York may be necessary at once. Everybody seems to think that everything needed is down "at Anderson's," and went there after it.

Councilman Joe Twinym has had but one trouble—he has bought a farm and was so busy selling good things to eat that he did not have time to go and "see how his land lies."

The Anderson & Fowler Drug Co. can boast of the largest trade in the history of their business, and having laid in a large supply of goods suitable for Christmas, they are in high good humor.

There are two houses on Ninth street that have good reason to be happy. The Keach Furniture Co. were rushed packing and delivering goods. So large has their trade been that they have had to enlarge their quarters, and now their store extends from Ninth to Eighth streets. Skarry's Jewelry store, just across the street from Keach, enlarged a large trade. Mr. Skarry prides himself on giving the people what they want and that of the best quality. He does not deal in shoddy stuff.

The Forbes Manufacturing Co.'s

volume of business this season has been unprecedentedly large in the holiday line. This firm, anticipating a rush, brought on a stock equal to every requirement and are "feeling good" over their immense sales.

The Planters' Hardware Co. have been up to their eyes in waiting on their customers. Every clerk has had all he could do, and the "Planters'" is now recognized as one of the leading houses in the city.

All this goes to prove the virtue of printer's ink. If you want to do business, advertise, as the above named firms have done. They are "it," and always will be. The Kentuckian extends its congratulations and wishes them a busier time than ever for the year 1906.

Hopkinsville people endorse our claim.

J. W. Pritchett, retired grocer of 752 East 7th St., says: "My back has given me a great deal of trouble. The pain was not continually severe, but came on at intervals, spells, which were sometimes very painful, especially after over-exertion of any kind. Being constantly on the lookout for something to relieve me, I happened to read of Doan's Kidney Pills and was so impressed with the testimony as to their value that I procured a box at Thomas & Trahern's drug store. The remedy benefited me in every way and I hope that my endorsement will be the means of extending relief to some other sufferer."

His wife sent for a physician, but before the doctor arrived, another cough spell came on, and Duckwell died from suffocation. St. Louis Globe Democrat, Dec. 1st, 1901."

In her novelette, "The Outsider," which opens the January number of The Smart Set, Beatrix Demarest Lloyd has written an exquisite romance of a girl of rare purity, charm and distinction. So delightful is the atmosphere of this tale, and so delicate is the art revealed, that it should take rank with Harland's "The Cardinal's Snuff Box." This is a book that will indeed, be a reading of the story will justify for The Smart Set.

STAYING GREEDY SEA

STOP EATING AWAY OF MASSACHUSETTS COAST LINE.

Government Experts at Work Constructing "Sand Catchers" to Prevent the Total Destruction of the End of Cape Cod.

When the mighty forces of nature combine to rob man of his heritage, the latter is often compelled to turn to work to stay the relentless hand. There is a heroic battle on at the present time away down on Cape Cod, and as to the outcome of the struggle with the mighty and relentless ocean, we can only conjecture, but as man still holds his own, we may expect victory before it is more probable than that in this instance the government engineer in charge of the work will be victorious. Storms and tides have repeatedly swept through the sand dunes, and have already made an island of Cape Cod, which is now separated from the mainland by a narrow channel between Abell hill and the Point Light, and where the destruction will stop if something is not done is hard to tell. And not only is the land being swallowed up, but the healing waters are carrying away the dunes, depositing them in the harbor at that point.

In view of all this the government has a large force of men, under the direction of Edward Atkins, of the United States engineers' office of Boston, working along the coast line to hold the shifting soil in its place. But since the memorable gale of November, 1888, when the sea broke through the beaches at Abell hill, the need of "sand catchers" has become more and more apparent.

WHIPS IN THE PARLIAMENT

This Office Entails Great Salary and Duty to Bring Party Together at the Crucial Time.

When private affairs or other matters make it impossible for our lawmakers to attend to their duties in house or senate a "whip" is made out with a member of the opposition and filed with the clerk. This acts to preserve the balance of the majority, since one "vote" from each side is taken away. The matter is entirely one of personal arrangement, and the clerk's only duty is to record the fact.

In parliament there are official to prepare these pairs and to act as "whip" for his party, the place carrying with it a salary of $10,000 as patronage secretary.

The parliamentary whip is something more than an arranger of pairs, however, for his chief duty lies in seeing that all members of his party are present when there is likely to be any need of their vote, and for this purpose he sends out, through his assistants, notices in which the importance of the events to come is shown by the number of underscored lines used.

A one line whip, wherein the subject of debate and other information are underscored but once, is not regarded as being particularly pressing, but a two-line whip commands attention, and a three-line whip means that the recipient who absents himself is liable to find himself in disfavor with this party. Four lines are used only in announcing great events, and no one who receives the occasional five-line whip would think of remaining away unless ill in bed.

In parliament pairing is a matter arranged by the whips of the opposing parties and not by those who seek to escape their duties. At times there are humorous mistakes made as each seeks to pair off some one who would in any event remain away. The most notable case was one wherein a man abed with a broken leg was paired with a member who had just died, each whip gloating over his cleverness until the facts came to light.

In Praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

There is no other medicine manufactured that has received so much praise and so many expressions of gratitude as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is effective and prompt relief follows its use. Grateful patients write to the manufacturer to testify to the merits for the benefit of others. It is a certain cure for croup and will prevent the attack if given at the first appearance of the disease. It is especially adapted to children, as it is pleasant to take and contains no irritating ingredients. Mr. Humphreys, a well known resident and clerk in the store of M. E. Lock, of Alice, Cape Colony, S. A., says: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to ward off croup and colds in my family. I found it to be very satisfactory and a great pleasure to administer it." STATISTICS.

What They Show Concerning Poising in This Country.

CHICAGO, Dec. 22. Where are the tens of thousands of persons who are alleged to be the victims of patent medicines? That they do not exist at all, is the conclusion reached by a Chicago statistician who has compiled figures relating to the injury or death of persons from the use, or accidental misuse of drugs, poisons and medicines.

It has been charged, by one or two Eastern magazines, that "patent" medicines are injuring those who use them, and, as these statements are to be used as the basis of the arguments to be made for the passage, at the next legislative session, of laws prohibiting the sale of these medicines, the figures of the Chicago statistician are of unusual interest and importance.

That less than one-twentieth as many persons are injured by the use of all "patent" medicines, of which it has been possible to learn the trade name or the name of the manufacturer, as are injured by carbolic acid alone is one of the facts proven.

Carbolic acid is not included in the sweeping denunciations of ready to use remedies, however, probably for the reason that it does not enter into competition with the regular school of medicine as do the "patent" medicines. The complainants cover 697 cases, reported in the newspapers of the country during the period between Aug. 15 and Nov. 1. As the services of four clipping bureaus were engaged to furnish clippings of cases of poisoning, there is reasonable assurance that practically every poisoning case that has occurred in that time has entered into the compilation.

None of the 697 cases is a case of suicide or attempted suicide, or a case wherein a drug or poison was used with criminal intent. The cases are almost those of accidental poisoning, or poisoning from the use or accidental misuse of medicines, drugs or poisons. Of these cases 252 were fatal to 191 being fatal to adults and 101 to children. Forty cases were of alleged malpractice, eleven of which were fatal and 21 of which involved criminal operations.

Six were cases involving "patent" medicines, the trade name of which could be learned by diligent inquiry. Five of these cases were fatal.

Four were cases where overdoses had been taken; three were cases where the preparations had been taken by mistake for other medicines and the rest were cases where the medicines had been left within reach of children, who, childlike, ate or drank the contents of package or bottle. There is not a recorded case where injury was caused by use according to directions of "patent" medicines, but there are recorded cases where prescriptions have been written or filled wrong.

In 212 of the 697 cases the wrong medicine was taken, or poison was taken by mistake for medicine. In 208 cases bottles were left within the reach of children and in 96 cases overdoses were taken by mistake.

Carbolic acid figured in 141 of the cases, or in one case in every five.

It was fatal in 52 cases. Of these, 32 were adults and 20 children.

It was taken by mistake for other medicine 85 times and left within the reach of children 48 times. It was administered by mistake of nurse three times; one old gentleman, carrying a bottle of it fell, breaking the bottle, the contents of which seriously bruised him. One little girl, in play, rubbed it on the face of her playmates, all being seriously burned.

Morphine ranked second, with 66 cases, 46 of which were fatal; 38 to adults and 8 to children. It was taken by mistake 6 times, and left within the reach of children 20 times. Overdoses were taken 40 times, 23 of the victims being babies. It was administered by medical student three times.

Laudanum ranked third, with 43 cases, 16 of which were fatal; 12 to adults and 4 to children. It was taken by mistake 16 times, left within the reach of children 10 times, and overdoses were taken 17 times.

Strychnine ranked fourth, with 24 cases, 15 being fatal, 5 to adults and 10 to children. It was taken by mistake 7 times; left within the reach of children 18 times, and administered by mistake of parent once.

Ammonia ranked fifth with 14 cases, none of which however was fatal. It was taken by mistake for medicine 10 times, and left within reach of children 4 times.

Three deaths are attributed to the use of bay rum as a beverage, and 92 deaths, nearly twice as many as are traceable to patent medicine, were caused by the use of Florida water as a beverage.

Fly poison figures in 15 cases, and caused death in 5, alone being responsible for more than twice as many deaths as all "patent" medicines.

Lyre in the period covered by the figures, was taken by mistake for medicine 4 times, left within reach of children eight times, and the use of it being responsible for three deaths. In the same time there were 31 cases of prussic poisoning, resulting in nine deaths.

Practically every known poison entered into the 697 cases, the figures showing conclusively that patent medicines, while they are probably ahead in the number of times used in the average household, are way behind when it comes to poisoning or injuring those who use, or accidentally misuse them.

The revolt at Moscow is now well in hand and seems to be crushed, with most of the leaders under arrest. The army as a rule remained loyal.

Fire destroyed the roof of the Courthouse in Louisville Tuesday, originating from electric wires. The loss exceeds $10,000.

The official count of the vote in the New York mayoralty election was announced Tuesday by the board of Canvassers. McClellan's plurality over Hearst is 3,368.

OFFICERS CHOSEN.

After Business Session a Feast Was Enjoyed.

At the annual election of officers for the local Odd Fellows Lodge, the following were chosen to serve during the ensuing year: W. H. McGrew, N. G.; L. W. Guthrie, V. G.; C. W. Wright, secretary; W. H. Fyke, Jr., treasurer; G. H. Chapman, trustee; W. L. Witty, warden; W. B. Guthrie, I. G.; J. M. Grace, O. G.; E. A. Roper, chaplain; W. H. Lee, conductor; T. E. The newly elected officers invited those present to the banquet hall in the building, where a sumptuous supper was served.

CHILD WAS SHOT.

Brother Shoots at Brother and Wounds His Daughter.

Ransom Manson shot and wounded a child of his brother, Joe Manson, near Kennedy, Sunday. The parties are col'red. From what could be learned of the affair it appears that the Manson brothers had not been on very good terms for some time. They met at Joe's house and Manson fired at Joe, but missed him and hit his little daughter. The child was shot in the back of the head, but it is not thought that she is fatally injured. No arrests have yet been made.

THE CITY BANK

Will Not Get Into New Building as Soon as Contemplated.

It has been evident for some time that the City Bank would not get into its new quarters by the first of January as at first contemplated. By unavoidable delays in finishing the interior it may take another month's work to enable the contractors to complete their job. When it is ready the move will be made in short order, as the officials are anxious to get into the building before the severe winter weather sets in.

ORDERLY CHRISTMAS.

Only Six Arrests by Police in Seven Days.

"It is the unexpected that always happens" is an old proverb and it often proves true. The good order that preceded the holidays was expected to be followed by several arrests for misdemeanors, but such has not been the case. For the seven days ending Thursday night there were only seven arrests. This is, perhaps, the best record for many years.

THE KENTON CLUB

Gave a Dance Last Night and Feasted Afterwards.

The members of the Kenton Club gave a dance last night at their hall in the Cooper building. After enjoying themselves until a late hour the young people went to the Innovative Cafe where they enjoyed a bountiful repast.

MILLION DOLLAR BABY.

Senator Clark Gives a Fortune to His Latest Grandchild.

San Francisco, Dec. 27.—Another million-dollar baby was born. The little one is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Clark, who are at San Mateo. As soon as the birth of the child was announced Senator W. A. Clark of Montana, the grandfather, announced that he would settle $1,000,000 upon her. This is the second demonstration of his now famous custom. Several years ago Senator Clark at the birth of his first grandchild gave it $1,000,000. Since then his son Charles married Miss Celia Tobin of this city, and the daughter born to-day is the result of the union.

DON'T NEGLECT A COLD.

Neglected Colds Lead to Consumption.

How Consumption Develops.

Nine cases of consumption out of ten occur in this way.

A person catches cold. The cold is not properly cured, and another cold is caught.

This cold is duly-dallied with either tea or coffee whenever a person takes medicine, and if the cold continues.

Then another cold is caught and a cough develops. Cough syrups are resorted to, but they give only temporary relief.

The cold continues to develop and the cough grows worse.

Then the doctor is called in, only to discover that the patient is in the first stages of consumption.

It was just in this way that Miss Powell, of Aurora, Ind., became sick. She caught a cold, and not considering it serious, neglected it, thinking as mentioned above, "it would never last."

However, it hung on her tenaciously, and in two weeks she found her health in a serious condition.

Fortunately, Peruna had been brought to her notice, and she took a course of treatment.

In a week the cough and cold were broken, and a three weeks' treatment completely restored her to health.

This is what Peruna is doing all the while. Not day, but probably not an hour passes in which some one does not have a similar experience with Peruna.

Cure the Slight Colds and Avoid Consumption.

The first step toward consumption is a cold. The next step is a failure to cure it promptly. The third step is the development of catarrh, which gradually becomes chronic. The fourth step, the catarrh becomes chronic. The fifth, the head to the throat, then to the bronchial tubes, and finally into the lungs. It is then consumption in the first stage.

Any time during the progress of catarrh, from the first onset of the cold to its final settlement in the lungs, Peruna can stop it in its tracks.

If you have taken a cold, buy Peruna without delay. One bottle in the beginning will do more good than a half dozen bottles after the catarrh has fastened itself on the lungs.

We have thousands of testimonials from people who have been cured of catarrh of the lungs by Peruna.

We can give our readers only a slight glimpse of the vast array of unsolicited endorsements we are receiving every month. Noother physician in the world has received such a large number of enthusiastic letters of thanks as Dr. Hartman for Peruna.

The first step toward consumption is a cold. The next step is a failure to cure it promptly. The third step is the development of catarrh, which gradually becomes chronic. The fourth step, the catarrh becomes chronic. The fifth, the head to the throat, then to the bronchial tubes, and finally into the lungs. It is then consumption in the first stage.

Any time during the progress of catarrh, from the first onset of the cold to its final settlement in the lungs, Peruna can stop it in its tracks.

If you have taken a cold, buy Peruna without delay. One bottle in the beginning will do more good than a half dozen bottles after the catarrh has fastened itself on the lungs.

Dying of Famine

is, in its torments, like dying of consumption. The progress of consumption from the beginning to the very end, is a long torture, both to victim and friends. When I had consumption, it was like being buried alive. BIG SALES

Of Tobacco in the Bluff Springs Country.

The Society of Equity farmers in the Bluff Spring vicinity have sold a large quantity of tobacco loose to the people at a very satisfactory price, on the plans laid out at the Owensboro convention.

There are ten chartered local unions in this county and a number of members to the national union.

Every union is expected to report at the county meeting the first Monday in January.

This Society is closing up the gaps in the wheat belt and is confident of getting members enough to force the price of wheat to one dollar per bushel and make every crop sold off the farm bring a satisfactory price.

Moving Pictures.

Prof. Steltzer's moving picture show, which is giving performances at the opera house all this week, beginning at 2:30 p.m. and running until 10:30 at night, is the best of its kind ever seen here. The admission is only 10 cents, and besides the pictures there is good music and pretty illustrated songs. Some of the subjects included in the moving pictures are:

Buffalo Bill's Street Parade and Bucking Bronchos, Britt and Nelson Fight, The Great Train Robbery, Life of an American Fireman, Wrestling Match, Lou Fuller's Butterflies Dance, Gordon Sisters' Boxing, The Lightning Express and Head on Collision, McKinley's Funeral at Washington, Battle of Yalu and Attack on Port Arthur, French Dancing Girls, Bold Band Robbery, The Whole Damn Family, Indians and Cowboys, and many others.

Boisterous Negroes.

Keyed up to a high pitch by having chambered too much mean whiskey, we learn that two or three negroes raised "cain" on the L. and N. & No. 51 train going South Sunday evening. After leaving Crofton the negroes became quite boisterous and amused themselves by firing their pistols and tearing up a car seat or two. No arrests were made, but our informant says that before reaching Hopkinsville, anticipating that they would be "pulled" by the local police, they jumped from the train before it reached the city.

Card of Thanks.

HETTY GREEN STILL MANAGES HER OWN AFFAIRS.

World's Richest Woman Celebrates Birthday at Her Desk—Lays Success to Careful Investments.

At length having passed the allotted three-score-and-six, Hetty Green, without doubt the richest woman in the United States, shows no signs of decline in vital activity. On Tuesday, November 1, occurred the seventieth anniversary of her birth, and she celebrated the day in her usual manner, in her office in the Commercial National Bank in New York city.

For 40 years now has this woman been one of the leading characters in the American financial world, and her shrewd management has added truly $50,000,000 to the fortune of the nation. Her wealth is estimated at $1,000,000,000.

"Today her property is fair to the eye and her real estate holdings fairly freakish the face of the country. Of course, her mortgages embrance some of the safest and soundest properties in a chain of cities extending from Boston to San Francisco, and the investments have been made from every national source, and cover almost Maine and Texas. Railroads and steamboats, mines of copper in Michigan, of gold in Nevada, and of iron in Missouri and Pennsylvania, telegraphs and telephone securities, her investments have been made in every field of gilt-edged dividend-paying investments.

She has, by her own genius and energy, reared a vast and valuable fabric, of which every strand is known to her and numbered as proverbially as are the hairs of the human head.

She still is as diligent in weaving strands after strands in piling dollar upon dollar, as when she began, on the death of her father.

Her 70 years rest lightly upon Hetty Green, and she has no intention of retiring from active business for some time to come. Business has become a part of her life, and she has learned to manage it well.

Her health has sharpened her wits, and she is to-day more than ever capable of managing her own affairs. Perhaps the smallest suit she ever defended grew out of a summons for her to appear in court and show cause why she should not pay a two-cent fine for a waste deposit. She evaded service for quite a time and eventually a license was taken out for the hoseholder in the name of an only daughter, Miss Sylvia Green, the other child being a son, Edward Green, in Texas.

Hetty Green is a strong, forceful woman, typifying the pluck of other country women produced, just as it required an overripe civilization to produce an Ibsen. The American spirit of independence is incarnate in her—keen, self-reliant, capable.

It is significant that she has no pronounced views about equal suffrage, although she does not believe in it.

She is a woman of strong character, and has done it single-handed.

Yet, with all her extraordinary business ability and knowledge of human nature, she remains a kindly disposed woman—a woman of the world—the busy mart—but none the less a woman of the world.

She has original views about a number of things—about her own fortune, for example. "I regard my property largely as a trust. It is not mine, absolutely. I take care of it much on the same principle as you would take care of your wife's property, for your charge. Of course, my attitude on the premises was inherited. My father believed that the money left to one should be given over undiminished to the next generation. That also is my idea."

"He believed that one who inherited property had the right to spend the same if he wanted, but not to waste the principal."

Asked regarding the secret of her success, she smiles and habitually disclaims being the wealthiest woman in the country. "Above all else, I can say that my investments have been carefully chosen and have turned out well as a rule. A fortune cannot be built up around any fixed idea," she believes, "or, in other words, without the exercise of plain common sense. I buy when things are low and no one wants them. I keep them, just as I do bonds on hand, until they go up and people are anxious to buy. This is the general secret of business success. One thing, however, has been wrongfully attributed to me, and that is speculating. I never speculate."

OBJECTION TO CATS

STORY SHOWING THEIR CRUEL AND FAITHLESS NATURE.

Dread Carriers of Disease—No Power of Affection—Must Be Driven from House of the Dead.

Most of my readers already know my personal attitude toward cats and shall not repeat my own grievances against these comfort-loving, fawning treacherous beasts. But for years I have been collecting the evidence of accurate people against them and a little this I will give. Much of it is too horrid to print in this publication. From any number of physicians of high standing, I have testimony concerning the danger of cats as carriers of disease, and our famous throat specialist assures me that in cases of diphtheria it is sometimes necessary to kill the cats by wholesale.

But to my mind there are much stronger objections to the cat than this. A story told me by a United States army surgeon, who was stationed at Fort Davis, Texas, he and a brother officer fought through a long summer night to prevent a horde of cats from devouring the dead body of an infant, is more than matched by the following ghastly but dramatic account given me by Charles I. Rice, one of the best-known men of Worcester, Mass.:

"Up to my eighteenth year, my home was in the country, on a farm. The nearest neighbors lived about a quarter of a mile distant, and the family consisted of two unmarried brothers who, for a number of years, were the sole occupants of the house. I was an occasional visitor at this house, and used to see the cats feeding bountifully when the milk was brought fresh from the cows and distributed to their different dishes. On my return, these cats manifested all the affection for their master (the older of the two men) which is possible for their kind. They rubbed their side against his legs, or purred contentedly in his lap as he read his 'Massachusetts Ploughman.' They crawled into his bed, and lay beside him after he had gone to sleep, and, lacking the companionship of a family, loved and cared for them.

"One night, when the October moon was at its best, this man, in the absence of his younger brother, was attacked by a large snake, which had crept up behind him and laid within reach two of three weapons, including the fatal ax. Presently I heard a low caterwaul just outside the window, and visions of these pets mourning over their dead master passed before my mental sight.

"The frantic relatives hurriedly shattered the glass and rushed in through the windows, sprang five bristling, raving incarnations of hell's most fiendish spirits. Three bounded upon the body of their late beloved (?) master, fairly clawing one another. The third fury got hold of the head and neck, the seat of the worst mortification. Of the other two, one devoted his attention to getting shreds from a saw which had been used by the physician, while the other proceeded to leek blood from cracks of the floor.

"This was a time for action, but no sooner was the room cleared than I ran through a window or door (I could not bring myself to close them) would dash a cat, which, driven out at one place, sought another entrance. For about an hour and a half, the dogs fought the fight of the titans."

It is quite unnecessary for anyone to explain that the cat is not to blame, either because it is a carrier of disease or because it is carnivorous in its habits; of course it isn't. It is a question of blame for injecting deadly venoms into our bodies, but that is no excuse for going to bed with a rattlesnake. It is not a question of blame, it is a question of fact, and it seems to be a fact that in spite of the cat's admitted value as a destroyer of rats and mice, it is a constant and terrible source of dreadful anxiety to those who are so unfortunate as to have death in the house, and at all times a cruel and deadly enemy of every song bird which seeks our companionship or our hospitality.

Mr. Penick died in Jan. 1885, more than 5 years after lapse of the policy, which, however, was promptly paid in full by the Company.

COLD MEETING HELD WITH PRISONERS AT EDDYVILLE.

The following persons went down to Eddyville Christmas day and held religious services in the penitentiary: Madames Armistead and Duke, Misses Lucy Starling and Bertie Stowe, Drs. A. P. Lyon and J. L. Wyatt, and Messrs. Chas. Anderson, G. G. Duke, A. M. Walls and Lyne Starling. The service lasted for over three hours and was probably the most fruitful of results ever held, several making profession of Christ. Every prisoner received a Christmas present and one hundred Testaments were furnished to those who could read. More could have been given if the visitors had been furnished with them. Warden Hagerman and wife entertained the visitors in the most hospitable manner and Asst. Warden Olive generously aided the visitors in their work. There are now about 200 white and 400 black prisoners at the Eddyville penitentiary, all of whom show fine keeping.
